Corset Comfort

S enticingly expressed in the new groups now on exhibit in our underwear section. Fortunately for the women of to-day Dame Fashion approves the short corset—or girdle—easy, supple, little affairs that give grace and promote good figures. But all the longer, good corsets are here, all modelled on the same lines of correct form and personal comfort. No style or shape of prominence that is not fully represented, no length or weight that is not shown. No quality that you cannot ask for with assurance. The most varied line of Dollar Corsets in Recumond, and the most excellent values in every other grade.

From 50c to $5.00 each.

The Girdles are worthy of special remark.

They are perfectly and daintly made.
Some of ventilated fabrie, some of batisto, at 50c.
A very big novelty at $1.00.
Some superh silk ones up to $2.50 csch.
The materials in the corsets, too, are productive of the same comfort that the shapes produce: Ventilated fabrie, batiste, cautille, satine, silk, satin.

TAKES A DIG AT NEWSPAPERS

But Advocate Has a Good Word for Southern Editors in General.

In a spicy editorial this week the Chris-

In a spley editorial this week the Christian Advocates digs into newspapers for circulating scandals, but at the same time commends Southern editors for their attitude in reference to all such news. The Advocate says in part:

If it is to the last degree ignoble in the individual to circulate runors concerning private affairs, why is it not abhorrent in the conductors of papers? Their bad behavior is multiplied by the number of their sheets. To the credit of Southern editors, there is, in the main, absence of nose nerves snifting for the social slop buckets. Why should there be any fishing in the refuse for a "yellow" item? Surely decent people do not sit on the top rail, like carrion crows, for a whiff from some putrid moss tossed about by jackals.

To gratify the coarse appetite of a few for a fetid story, must the palate of refined people be polluted, and the innocent wife, daughter, mother be toured by placarding of the lad, brother, father behaving unseemly when betrayed into his cups too deeply? There is anguish enough in homes over the erring without multiplying the heartaches by the press. We know that newspaper men often make themselves bilnd to personal events that would torment the hearts around the hearthstone. The publisher who forbids every incident that educates downwards, that distresses the innocent without bettering anyone, will reap the respect of gentlemen and ladies.

These observations were suggested by a sentence saying that the Norfolk papers had omitted a runor from a distant city whic. would hurt keenly an aged minister folk, whose daughter was the "usspect." We beg to salute the editors of Norfolk. We are sure Virginians will lift, their caps to these bilns men in the City by the Sea.

Princess Rospigliosi May Have First Marriage Annulled.

Marriage Annulled.

(Ily Associated Press.)

ROME, March 19.—The Congregation of the Propaganda has received from Bishop O'Connell, of Portland, Me., his report on the investigation he made into the marriage of Princess Rospigliosi, nee Reid, of Washington, with her divorced husband, Colonel Parkhurst, of Bangor, Mo. The Princess wishes to prove that her marriage with Colonel Parkhurst was illegal, and thus have it annulled by the church in order to pave the way to a church recognition of her marriage with Prince Rospigliosi and an authorization for a religious ceremony here. Bishop O'Connell, in making his report, does not give an opiniom, so that the congregation must liself settle the dispute.

Princess Rospigliosi, who is a Catholic, was divorced in 1938 from Colonel Parkhurst, who was a Protestant, and in 1901 was married in Rome to Prince Rospigliosi, head of an ancient family of clerical nobility and brother to the commandant of the Papal Noble Guard. The ceremony was a civil one and from the first the Catholic church rotused to recognize the marriage. When the Prince first applied to the Congregation of his wife's divorce in the United States, the church declined to recognize it, but Monsignor Chappell, who married Mrs. Parkhurst to ther first husband, since testified before the congregation that the first marriage was irregular according to the laws of the church.

The resolutions and reports formulated by the House were passed by in the Senate yesterday upon motion of Senator Massic, of Nelson, who is looked upon as Judge Campbell's closest friend in the upper branch This action is not taken to indicate any thing further than that Senators probably desire a night to sleep over and think of their probable action.

German geologists have long believed that the American cities would solve the smokeless fuel question by the use of briquettes. President Frances, of the St. Louis Exposition, during his short stay here, accumulated pamphlets and other information on the subject, with the view of the introduction of briquettes at St. Louis. He took with him several sample briquettes made from Dakota lignite, sent to the German works by Mr. Washburn.

WOULD MEAN VINDICATION.

If it shall fall of passage in either branch that is a finality, and Judge Campbell remains on the bench. This failure will, of course, be construed by his friends as a vindication from the charges against him, as it will mean that there will not be the required constitutional number voting for removal in the two houses.

It is being freely said that this will be the fate of the matter in one branch or the other, but those who are behind the report declare that if members are absent in sufficient numbers to make the vote unusually light, there will be a call off of either or both houses where there shall appear such a discrepancy. Upon the question of final adoption, if there shall be a failure and it is apparent that it is the resuit of the lack of attendance, a motion to reconsider will likely be made and passed by, and then the motion for the call of the House will be made. It is construed by some that the accused judge has the right to counsel on the floor of the two main bodies, but there has been no move looking to that end, and some prominent members of the House take the ground that the constitutional provision on this subject extends only to the committees of the Legislature.

Reports from points in Mississippi say that the lowlands are completely injuriated, and in many cases stock is suffering. The negro farmers have abandoned their homes for high ground.

Captain Lucus, chief of the government forces, has furnished the St. Francis Levee Board the use of the steamer Abbot, and this vessel, under the direction of Captain Lee Vasseur, assistant engianeer, will patrol the levees stretching along the river between Cat Island and Pecan Point. From Pecan Point, north the steamer Graham, will do sentry duty. In addition to these vessels the government boat Chisca will be used as a reserve vessel.

The condition of the embankment twenty miles north of Memphis where the water is flooding around the end of the levee, in the seventeen mile gap, where embankments have never been built, is serious. It is believed to be one of the most dangerous places along the river. It is reported that the water is slowly washing away the levee there by running around it. The engineers in charge have put in temporary revoluments, but not before the counties of Lee and Crittenden, in Arkansas, were overflowed.

Charles Potter, chief engineer of the third levee district, said to-day that his force was prepared for the flood, and that the embankments are all in good condition. Three steamers are pairelling the territory with all the necessary emergency supplies aboard.

AT A HEAVY COST.

The Campbell-Crawford investigation has had a withering effect upon the work of the General Assembly.

It has been up actively either before the House Couris of Justice Committee or before one of the main bodies more than half of the actual legislative days since the middle of January, and still it is not disposed of by any means.

Its cost in direct expense to the State has run far into the thousands, to say nothing of the indirect expense it has entailed, which is even far greater.

The result is that a serious condition of affairs exists at the Capitol. The attendance upon both branches daily is silm, and the calendars are clogged with important matters.

Day after day these bills are passed by, often because of silm attendance, but in fairness it should be said that it is more often the case that the Campbell matter is up, sweeping everything else aside with the force of a cyclone.

It has been true almost from the inception of the fight over the famous Amberts affair, that when it was up in any shape before either house or any of their committees, that nothing else of importance was given serious consideration about the Capitol, and many members are regretting that it should have come in at this time to infringe upon the most important legislative work of the age.
